One in every 10 persons in our country has the disease of addiction, and each addicted person affects others who may not be addicted. Art can testify to the amazing power of the creative spirit to foster freedom from addiction, and to the fact that an alcohol and drug-free life is available to all who want it.

If you've been affected by addiction—either directly or indirectly—show us how you feel by submitting art work dedicated to the theme of renewal

This juried art show will feature art reflecting recovery from addiction, but is not limited to recovering addicts.
